Glen Gillard

It's with great pleasure we bring to your attention a word from Peter Clarke, your presenter for the webinar to be broadcast Wednesday 17th June. We have been looking forward to this event.

Peter Clarke is a pharmacist, naturopath and founder of The Holistic Chemist, with more than three decades of experience integrating orthodox pharmacy, naturopathic medicine, nutrition, herbal medicine and lifestyle-based healthcare.

Peter's professional focus is the safe and effective integration of complementary medicines with conventional medical care. His approach is grounded in the principles of food as medicine, individualised patient care, nutritional optimisation, herbal medicine, functional pathology interpretation and holistic lifestyle education. With a background spanning pharmacy ownership, naturopathic clinical practice, compounding, and practitioner education and clinic coordination, Peter is passionate about helping patients and practitioners bridge the gap between science-based healthcare and natural medicine.

We hope you can make this event.
